

- I. 18P1: Why has Pip's attitude toward home changed?
 - A. He was more innocent and younger in the beginning which leads to him not being very aware of what was around him
 - B. He becomes more aware of his surroundings, sort of like seeking freedom
 - C. After going to Miss Havisham's house, he starts to notice the social classes and difference
 - D. Pip sees his home as lower than it was before because there's an actual comparison
 - E. When Pip was at Miss Havisham's house, he realized that he was much different from Estella's, some of which was contributed because she was making fun of him (which he knew was true)
 - F. When Joe went to the house, Joe was speaking differently, which caused Pip to feel ashamed because Pip wanted Joe to be more like Estella and her family
 - 1. Pip also thought that he would be brought in to their circle
 - G. After going to Miss Havisham's house, Pip loses his interest with working with Joe because he wants to be more rich
 - H. Pip experienced the mansion, and had greater expectations
- II. What does this tell you about his character?
 - A. Pip is a lot more open-minded and aware
 - B. He realizes his social status
 - C. His character starts to develop with the effect of social status
 - D. His age may factor in, because he's now a adolescence and going through a lot of change
 - E. He has pride in his character (from fighting the guy)